LAWMAN

Composed and Conducted by JERRY FIELDING
Intrada Special Collection Volume ISC 17

The 1971 United Artists film Lawman features Burt Lancaster as Sheriff Jered Maddox, a rude and arrogant fellow if there ever was one. Maddox enters a neighboring town searching for the men responsible for an accidental death. But even with justice on his side, his manner turns the town against him, and the town boss sends a series of henchmen to do away with Maddox – one after another. Directed by Michael Winner, Lawman also features Robert Ryan, Lee J. Cobb, and Robert Duvall.

Jerry Fielding's score to Lawman avoids customary western antics, featuring an unusually dramatic main theme combining outdoor scope with brooding intensity. Shifting between minor and major, his theme underlines the singular, unyielding pursuit by Burt Lancaster as the "Lawman" in bringing several men to justice. Reflective moments are sensitive, counterbalancing the fierce and violent action scenes. Capping the score is a powerful finish that puts trumpets in the stratosphere. Presented in crystal clear stereo from original master elements.
